Decoration Day Fox Chase.

The Olympia club, a well known organization which has figured in previous years in sporting circles, will hold its second annual meet on Decoration Day, at the fair grounds. There will be a multiplicity of attractions. The chief feature of the programme will be a fox chase, and for this ten wild foxes from the forests have been secured. Later there will be a horse race, in which several of the best animals in this part of the state will be entered. The management of the club had expected to have the picnic and sports connected therewith on the Fourth of July, but concluded to pull it off earlier. JOLLY TURNERS

Gather at Wheeling for the Pittsburgh District Turn Day.

FIVE HUNDRED VISITORS CAME

And the Exercises Were Thoroughly Enjoyable and Very Interesting. The Turners Were Royally Entertained by Their Wheeling Brethren—Many Entries for the National Turn-fest at Philadelphia.

Turners from towns in the Pittsburgh district gathered at Wheeling Park yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the district turn day, and a large crowd witnessed the interesting exhibition given by the active Turners, about 300 in all. The event attracted an excursion from Pittsburgh and surrounding towns, numbering 500 members of the Turnvereins of Pittsburgh, Monaca, Jeannette, Pa., Allegheny, Bradock, and other places in touch with the Smoky City, and from Steubenville there came twenty-five. The visitors were royally entertained by the Wheeling boys, and they left for their homes last night loud in their praises of the Wheeling brand of hospitality.

The national turn-fest will occur in Philadelphia next month, and yesterday's programme of gymnastic events was identical with that to be given at the Philadelphia affair. It was given from 2 to 4 p. m., in the race track enclosure at the park, and during the afternoon a programme of music was discoursed by the boys' band from the Columbia Turnverein of Pittsburgh. This band numbered twenty-two pieces, and rendered good music for juveniles.

Among the exercises were weight-throwing, high jump, broad jump, rope climbing, triple horse vaulting, etc. The feature that attracted the most favorable comment was the wand drill, which was splendidly executed. The apparatus work was also worthy of mention. About fifteen members of the Wheeling Turnverein took part. The affair was an exhibition, and not a competition, as some people supposed. The exercises are competitive at the national turn-fest.

The event was voted a great success, and reflects no little credit on the local organization, under whose auspices it was given. The reception committee from the Wheeling Turnverein consisted of the following: William Schambra, Herman Schambra, Nick Plume, Joe Weisgerber, Louis Troesch, Martin Ruggaber, Chris Brandfass, Louis Bartens, John Kirchgassner, Charles Schuck and J. Schenk.

JUDGE CAMPBELL

Replies to Some Claims of Capt. Dovenor—Braxton County Difficulty.

Judge John A. Campbell was in the city last evening, on his way home from a tour through several counties in the district in the interest of his candidacy for the nomination for Congress. The judge expressed himself as satisfied with the outlook, but took occasion to criticize some of Captain Dovenor's claims in regard to river improvements, and to chide the Intelligencer for what he was pleased to term its "unfairness." The reporter asked the judge if he had any statement to make, as the Intelligencer had no disposition to do him or any other man injustice, to which inquiry he replied as follows:

"I notice by the editorial of the Intelligencer of last Thursday, that Mr. Dovenor, instead of accepting my challenge for a discussion of his river and harbor record (so eloquently depicted by his editorial admirers in the southern end of the district), has in my absence, and just preceding the conventions in Marshall and Tyler counties, invoked the editorial aid of the Intelligencer. This seems to me as unfair, as using it at the last hour, as a conclusive rejoinder to my reply to the letter of General Wilson. Ever since Archie Campbell, in the fullness of his power, contributed his editorials to the Intelligencer, its opinions on public questions have carried great weight, and I submit whether a member of Congress, basing his candidacy upon his record, and when challenged makes no reply, should invoke the aid of the leading Republican paper of his district."

"When a candidate makes his own record the issue, and is challenged by his competitor, he should either step out upon the platform and defend it, or request his managers to withdraw him from the contest. The editorial referred to gives assurance that the measures referred to regarding certain appropriations as to dams Nos. 13 and 15, is just ready to pass Congress. The fact is the bill aforesaid was referred to the senate committee on appropriations and so far as I am advised, is there still, and has not as yet passed, and Congress is on the even of adjournment."

"I also notice that the Intelligencer, in printing the resolutions of the late Braxton county mass meeting, takes occasion to write an editorial censuring the Republicans participating in said meeting, and at the same time approving and vindicating the late Braxton county convention. The editorial is ex-parte, and in the interest of Mr. Dovenor. The editor misapprehends, and therefore misstates the object of that meeting. It was not a convention convened for the purpose of electing another set of delegates to the First congressional district convention and it does not so appear in the published account of its proceedings. It was simply a mass meeting of representative Republicans of Braxton county, who took occasion to express and emphasize their disapproval of the irregular and revolutionary methods adopted by the convention of April 25, as to the appointment of congressional delegates. Had the editor been fully advised as to all the facts he would have found the facts to be, that after the selection of delegates by districts in obedience to the order of the convention and afterwards ratified by vote of the convention it then undertook, pending a motion to adjourn to reverse such order by a resolution to instruct for Dovenor, although the convention well knew and ratified the selection of part of the delegates as anti-Dovenor delegates. Why censure the Republicans of Braxton, and pass without comment the suppression of Republican suffrage in our own midst, and, and give practical embodiment to the old heresy that a colored man has no rights a white man is bound to respect, and while you deprive him of his rights at the primary, you give him the comforting assurance that he must tumble over himself at the general election to vote for the party of Lincoln."

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

Takes Place This Morning—Wheeling Gets Only a Small Part of it.

While Wheeling is not in the path of the total obscuration of the sun by the moon this morning, a partial phase of the phenomenon may be seen if the sky is clear. The first contact at this point will be about 8 o'clock.

To the great mass of people an eclipse is a mysterious thing, partaking of the supernatural. Unless one has studied the elementary principles of astronomy, it is difficult to realize that it is, after all, nothing else than a question of mathematics, in which motion, time and distance are the factors. The planets move in orbits at varying speed. It follows that at given times they are abreast and one covers the other. When one heavenly body intervenes between others, and by so doing intercepts or obscures the light with which one of these others illuminate a second, it causes what is known in astronomy as an eclipse.

"An eclipse of the sun is caused by the intervention of the moon between it and the earth, the sun's disk being thus partially or entirely hidden." So says the latest of dictionaries.
